

Lead the Development of a New City

CPCS is an employee-owned, infrastructure development advisory firm that advises international and North American clients primarily in the transportation and power sectors. We have been retained as project managers for the development of the new Kaduna Millennium City. This brand new city has been designed for 110,000 residents and will feature modern infrastructure, recreation facilities including a new golf course, plus commercial and light industrial developments.

We are seeking an individual with extensive municipal engineering experience and proven management experience to lead our team and provide direction to our engineering partners. Headquartered in Ottawa, Canada, we offer competitive compensation packages that reward initiative, client focus and team work.

Qualifications/Requirements:

- Bachelors degree in engineering (post graduate degrees preferred).
- Registered Professional Engineer.
- Minimum 15 years of experience in planning and implementation in: urban transport, urban water supply and sanitation, and/or urban power supply.
- Experience in the management of large-scale urban development projects.
- Interested in travelling to Africa.

Job Description:

- Based in the head office in Ottawa, Canada, lead the engineering and assist the management aspects of this multimillion-dollar project:
 - Identify and prioritize urban infrastructure needs;
 - Develop an implementation strategy, including phasing and packaging of works;
 - Prepare work plans;
 - Identify resource needs for work packages (i.e. required expertise and level of efforts), define scope of work and estimate required budget (for both individual consultants and corporate subcontractors);
 - With the firm's resource manager, identify and recruit appropriate experts;
 - With the firm's resource manager, identify appropriate corporate partners where relevant;
 - Supervise teams of engineers who will be carrying out engineering studies (design and construction supervision) of urban infrastructure.
- Travel to Africa as required to ensure smooth implementation of the project.
- Provide leadership of the firm's Municipal Services Practice
